Date: 21.03.2019

NSS unit of SEAGI College in association with Civil Engineering Department, SEAGI together organized an Awareness program on Rain water Harvesting. The principal SEAGI College started that, rainwater harvesting is a process of collecting and storing rain water for using it as a backup supply of fresh water to meet everyday domestic and agricultural requirements, especially when water becomes scarcely available. There are several methods by which we can collect rainwater flowing from our roof tops, gardens, fields, forests and other locations, these methods are discussed in detail. Rainwater harvesting not only provides fresh water in difficult times but also prevent naturally occurring fresh water resources from drying up, by reducing the demand of water. Rainwater harvesting is the least we can do to maintain the supply of water and also to support life on earth. Totally 18 students are participated

Globally, we celebrate International Women's day on the 8th of March to honour the achievements of women in various fields. This celebration gives acknowledgment to those women's personalities who excelled in their own fields. Certainly, women have contributed significantly to the welfare of the society and country subsequently.

Furthermore, women's day clutches a great significance and it becoming a custom year after year. Moreover, this celebration is a sign of appreciation, respect, love, and care towards women in our lives and in society.

It is a great responsibility to empower women also it is necessary for gender equality. Moreover, society is better when women are given equal respect and are not taken for granted. In the past, women were restricted in homes and were not permissible to step out of the house for work.

Their household responsibilities are their only area of work. But with time society has seen many changes. Furthermore, this generation trust and values women with great responsibility. Now, women are given equal opportunity at work and are allowed to stand among and at times ahead of men in many fields. Women today have begun realizing their strengths and abilities are ready to step out of their homes, contributing to the success of their home and the entire society.

Women are indeed making the world turn heads towards them. Also, it was not possible before but now it is possible and they are doing it today. And you can see that women are reaching great heights and even travelling to space.

In addition, they are entering into every field and are making success in all of them proving what they are capable of. The participation of women is the most effective way to lift communities, companies, and countries.
